

MARC BINEHAM

MONEY & WELLNESS COACH

BACKGROUND

In 2022, Australia lost $67 billion in lost productivity to Financial Stress!

Following the COVID years and remote work isolation, many have faced financial struggles, leading to stress and anxiety. This has negatively impacted both their personal lives and work performance. However, there's good news. Employers can help by prioritising their employees' financial well-being and help improve productivity.

At The Money Sandwich, we've been promoting financial wellness for over 20 years. Our programs empower employees to manage their money effectively, reducing stress and improving productivity – a win for the employer and a win for the employee.

RATE CARD

Webinar examples (online or in-person) - $2,500

- 7 Steps for achieving financial wellness
- Financial Security for improved Productivity
- Retirement planning, including the 6 challenges
- Property 101
- Monthly or quarterly, adapted to your requirements

Executive training - $1,000 per executive

Your executives are your key stakeholders of the company. Responsible for strategy implementation, managing the company and navigating relationships with employees and customers. Work long hours and are the ones that most likely miss out on attending to their own personal and financial wellbeing and security.

- Small group training as well as one-on-one
- Financial health check
- 3 month program
- Goal setting/Mindset
- Maximising Superannuation and financial basics

Day availability - $700 for half day, $1,000 for full day

For all staff, set up in an office for a half-day/full day, and staff can make 30-minute appts to discuss their financial matters and get help.

Half day workshop (up to 10 people) - $3,500

Tailored goal setting and planning, come out with own plan on 7 steps

Keynote speaking

Marc's last talk was a TEDx talk titled "How to buy Happiness", a motivational talk to help inspire employees at all stages of life.

PROFILE

Marc is committed to helping people live their best life, a financially well-life and wants to help as many people achieve financial freedom.

Author of The Money Sandwich, which received the Social Responsibility book award for Australia 2022.

As an inspirational speaker to corporations, communities and associations, Marc works online and in-person, empowering people to help realise their dreams and goals. No matter where you are on your financial journey, Marc believes that everyone has the potential to get better with money regardless of their situation.

With over 30 years as a financial adviser and now money coach, Marc has also featured as a commentator for SBS News, Sydney Morning Herald and Australian Financial Review.

Additionally, Marc served for 4 years as the National President of the industry's professional body, Association of Financial Advisers, where he shared his knowledge with audiences both in Australia and internationally.

CONTACT

W: themoneysandwich.com

E: marcb@themoneysandwich.com

T: 0413 463223

SCAN QR CODE FOR MORE INFORMATION